The Trials and Rewards of Christian Hospitality-The Toil and Expense of Exercising It-A Pretty Custom Among

THE HAMPTONS, Sept. 11 .- The Rev. Dr. T. De Witt Talmage's text today was from Romans xii, 13: "Given to hospitality;" and his discourse as fol-

There is danger that the multiplication of large and commodious hotels in our towns and cities and villages will utterly exterminate that grace which Abraham exhibited when he entertained the angels, and which Lot showed when he watched for guests at the gate of the niscences and Christian condolence it will cuty, and which Christ recognized as a be a plaster large enough to cover up all positive requisite for entering heaven when he declared: "I was a stranger and take people into our houses as Christian

I propose to speak this morning of the trials and rewards of Christian hospitality. The first trial often comes in the whim and eccentricity of the guest himself. There are a great many excellent people who have protuberances of disposition and sharp edges of temperament, and unpliability of character, which make them a positive nuisance in any house where they stay. On short ac quaintance they will begin to command he household affairs, order the employes to unusual service, keep unseasonable hours, use narcotics in places offensive to sensitive nostrils, put their feet at unusual elevations, drop the ashes of their Havana on costly tapestry, open bureaus they ought never to touch and pry into things they ought never to see, and be come impervious to rousing bells, and have all the peculiarities of the gormandizer or the dyspeptic, and make excavations from poor dentistry with umusual implements, and in a thousand ways afflict the household which proposes to take care of them. Added to all, they stay too long. They have no idea when would be unmoved even by the blessing anthropist, asked one morning at his breakfast table, on the day when he hoped which my friend Gerrit Smith, the phil that the long protracted guests would depart, saving: "O Lord, bless this provision and our friends who leave us today!" But, my friends, there are alleviations to be put on their side of the scale. Perhaps they have not had the same refining influences about them in early life that you have had. Perhaps they have inherited eccentricities that they cannot help. Perhaps it is your duty, by example, show them a better way. Perhaps they are sent to be a trial for the developmen of your patience. Perhaps they were to be intended as an illustration of the opposite of what you are trying to inculcate in the minds of your children. Perhaps it is to make your home the brighter when they are gone. When our guests are cheery and fascinating and elegant it i very easy to entertain them; but when we find in our guests that which is an tagonistic to our taste and sentiment, it is a positive triumph when we can obey the words of my text, and be "given to Another trial in the using of this grace In the well regulated household things go smoothly, but now you have introduced a foreign element into the machinery and though you may stoutly declare that they must take things as they find them, the Martha will break in. The ungovernable stove; the ruined dessert; the joint that proves to be unmasticable; the elayed marketing; the perplexities of a caterer; the difficulty of doing proper work, and yet always being presentable Though you may say there shall be no care or anxiety, there will be care and there will be anxiety. In 1694 the captain general provided a very grand en nent, and among other things e had a fountain in his gardenfourtain of strong drink. In it were four hogsbeads of brandy, eight hogseads of water, 25,000 lemons, thirteen hundredweight of Lisbon sugar, five bounds of grated nutmeg, 300 toasted uit, and a boat built on purpose was placed in the for-tain and a boy rowed cound it and alled the cups of the people who came there to be supplied. Well, a say, that was a luxurious entertain nent, and of course the man had no anxiety; but I have to tell you that, though you had or propose an entertain-ment like that, you have anxiety. In that very thing comes the divine reward. We were born to serve, and when as the flush on the cheek of one who, on a hot day, preaches the Gospel. We may serve God with plate, and cutlery, and broom, as certainly as we can serve him with psalm book and liturgy. Margaret, queen of Norway, and Sweden, and Dennark, had a royal cup of ten lips, on which were recorded the names of the guests who had drunk from this cup. and every Christian woman has a royal which are written all the names by her in Christian style-names not cut an ingenuity, but written by the hand of a divine Jesus. But, my friends, you are not to toil unnecessarily. Though the fare be plain, cheerful presidency of the table, and cleanliness of appointments will be good enough for anybody that ever comes to your house. John Howard potatoes on the table." The requisition was complied with. Cyrus, king of Persia, under the same circumstances, prescribed that on the table there must be othing but bread. Of course, these were extremes, but they are illustrations of the fact that more depends upon the banqueters than upon the banquet. I want vitors 1,000. O, what a grand feast was you give directly to Christ. Suppose it were announced that the Lord Jesus

An American girl, daughter of Ogden Bradley, of New York, and niece of Bishop Neely, of Maine, has won a diploma from the famous Paris School of Medicine, passing a brilliant examina-tion and receiving the maximum mark. Her thesis was "Iodism," and for an hour and a half she was shrewdly and ably questioned by four of the leading professors of the school, each of whom had been provided with a copy of the thesis. In the black gown and white fichu, prescribed for candidates, she re-minded the audience of Portia in the trial scene of the "Merchant of Venice."

Dr. Mary Taylor Bissell, sister of the president of Vassar, who is in charge of the girls' gymnasium in New York city, is interested in the project of a college of physical training for girls. Whenever this college is ready to receive pupils they will be measured on entering, and an average gain of 2 1-2 inches about the chest, 5 inches about the waist, 1 1-2 inches about the arm and 1 inch about the forearm is what is looked forward to as the desirable result of the first year's bodily training and exercise of the typical slim girl at 17.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe spends the greater part of the year at Oak Glen, her country home, five miles out of Newport. Oak Glen owes its name to the cluster of oak trees which makes the slope behind the house cool and shady in the hot summer days. A little brook runs murmuring through their midst, and an old gray ruin of a stone mill stands on the farther side of the stream. Under these trees Mrs. Howe passes many hours with her that! but then compare it with the pro-vision which God has made for us on high: that great banquet hour; the 144,-000 as guests; all the harps and trum-pets of heaven as the orchestra; the vintankards; all the fruits of the orchards of God piled on the golden platters; the angels of the Lord for cup bearers, and glad to wash for him, or spread for him the once folded starry banner of the blue a ked, or lake bread for him? Standing by the Teacher. The State Register of Springfield, Ills. relates the following curious experience of Dr. Lameroux, of Eldon, Ia. The doctor is a physician about 40 years old, who in his youth was of an adventurou turn. At one time he found himself teaching school down in the Cherok country, in a schoolhouse which his own hands had helped to build. On one occasion, having offended number of young Cherokee bucks by promising them a "good square lick ing" for some infringement of his rules, he discovered that his pupils had come to school armed to the teeth, intending, he expresses it, to "do him up," if he noted to carry out his threat. He immediately dispatched a secret nessenger to inform the parents of the young men of the state of affairs, and ask their attendance at the school They soon came, and the schools addressed them in a few explanatory words. He said that the young men had disobeyed the rules, and must take their unishment or leave the school. The old oucks, after consulting together, agreed to stand by the teacher, whereupon th refractory pupils were one by one disarmed and punished.

The pistols, knives and other weapons made quite a pile in the center of the room. Some time after this the school gave an exhibition, which is said to have been the first school exhibition ever held in Indian territory, at which about 1,500 Indians were present. Many of them came days beforehand, and camped on the spot to await the great event. Youth's Companion.

GET THE BUTTONS PUT ON: Finding they last a long time, and seeing our workman repair their old ones for a trifle, and everything made cheap for them. They begin to learn the rudi-diments of Economy. Bring the Children.

GENTS' SHOES!

We are going to give substantial indocements to Gentlemen to buy their Shoes of us. Many have sent away. Not a few have been disappointed. Their orders being filled often from Shoes which had been misfits for others, or refused for other reasons. Shoes that have been made quickly. Made cheap, with no style or finish. In fact as little workmanship as possible. We are going to give better Shoes. Shoes of better style and finish. Superior workanship, at the same prices you have paid heretofore in this manner for unfinished and cheap-made Shoes with scarcely any shoe-making about them. We will fit and please you in every way Our trade in Gent's Shoes

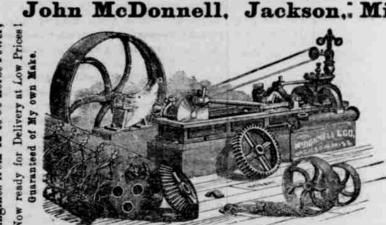

Increases from Day to Day, and we wish to convince every one that to buy our Shoes will be to get the best Shoe to be had in United States for the price asked, and will end their disappointments, as there will be no Mis fits in our Shoes. Our General Stock Will be Kept Well Filled at all Times.
